Dress Code for all Listeners

Please remember that you are a professional and that appropriate dress must be worn at all times while engaged in client work.

Dress must be clean and smart; please do not 'power-dress' or wear extensive or excessive jewellery. This more toned down approach to clothing could be helpful in developing a therapeutic relationship.

We ask you to consider the impression that you make on clients and their expectations of a professional service at the Listening Service. Within this boundary however we welcome and respect your choice of clothing within your own individuality.

However male and female listeners please avoid:

- Holed jeans
- Leggings with only a short T-shirt
- Extremely short skirts
- Shorts
- Bare midriffs
- Logo'd T-shirts
- Laddered or holed leggings/tights
- Spaghetti strap tops
- See through top clothing where under garments are exposed i.e. underpants or bra
- Tops where considerable cleavage is visible
- Overly tight clothing

We reserve the right to ask you to respectfully amend your dress if it fails to meet professional standards. Dress code does not apply when attending workshops. However on any occasion when we are representing Renewal Listening Service please remain professional.
